24.05.11 / World

OGI Systems is planning to showcase new diamond technology at the upcoming JCK Las Vegas jewelry exhibition from June 3-6.

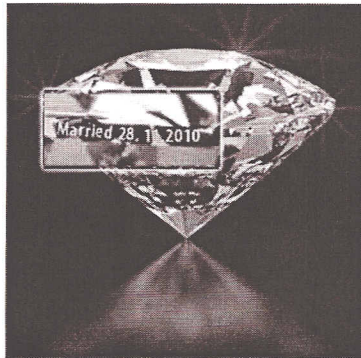

Among the company's systems on display will be a Scanox H.D, which measures and grades brilliant polished diamonds using a high-resolution digital camera and then constructs a three-dimensional model of the diamond; and its MEGAFire tool for analyzing and evaluating a diamond's light reflection.

OGI customers will be offered a chance to upgrade their existing machines at cost price.

In addition, OGI plans to provide a hands-on demonstration of its new jewelry marketing technology.

OGI Systems will be showing at Booth #B6664.
